How to use The Trust List

This publication is intended as a prospect identification tool for charities well established in the art of trust fundraising.

We include every relevant grant making charity that registered with the Charity Commission of England and Wales, leaving out those set up specifically to fund a named school, church, community centre and such.

Around three quarters of new funders intend to utilise their giving in very specific ways, be it medical research, support for the armed forces, conservation, or local communities in other countries, where the trustees might have a direct connection. Around a quarter of the trusts listed have no discernable giving strategy, preferring to remove any potential limit on future giving by citing General Charitable Objects.

In order to help you find the right funders for your particular cause we provide keywords that encapsulate grant maker priorities, based on their stated charity objectives; they should be taken as a guide only. The index at the front is sorted by keywords in order to group funders with a similar focus. Each name in the index is hyperlinked, so clicking on the name will take you to the relevant page within the publication. You can return to the index by clicking the Index tab at the top of each page.

This publication is not intended as a mailing list in order to send generic fundraising materials to those within. At best, this approach is a waste of time and resources and at worst will damage the reputation of your particular charity and the wider reputation of the charity sector. Please consult the Institute of Fundraising's Codes of Conduct for further clarification.

Good luck
with your fundraising!

A little extra...

Each month we review every new grant maker that registers with the Charity Commission for England and Wales. Whilst we provide wealth indicators for the trusts listed here, far more information is usually available, with additional research. Get in touch if you'd like more detail through info@newhcarities.org.

March was a strong month, with every metric being above the 12 month rolling average. 75 are included in this edition, against an average of 68, with 23 picked up through prospect research, against a rolling average of just 17.

Rolling average	Last Month	This Month
379	356	400	Charities were established
89	90	102	Were set up specifically as grant makers
68	66	75	Are of interest to professional fundraisers

Dahir Alasow is a Somali journalist and founder of Waagacusub Media, a Dutch company covering journalism in East Africa. The company was founded in 2003 by Dahir and has grown to be a trusted source of independent news, particularly around Somalia.

The Alasow Foundation does have a web presence, with charity registrations in the UK, Ireland, the Netherlands and the United States, along with local registration in Somalia.

Unfortunately, Dahir does not hold any active directorships on Companies House, bar Alasow Services Ltd, which has been dormant since incorporation in 2019.

At this stage it is unclear whether Dahir intends this to be a grant maker or an operational charity.

His Hon Judge Philip Katz KC is a Master of the Bench. He was Head of Foundry Chambers from 2008-11 and has appeared in major criminal trials for the prosecution and defence. As a Judge, Philip will be earning around £175k per annum Gillian Etherton was called to the bar in 1988. Her brother, Lord Terrence Etherton was a towering figure in British law, and one of the first openly gay men to be appointed to the bench. Sir Terence died in May 2025 and was survived by his civil partner, Andrew Stone, presumably the Stone of the name of this new grant maker, and the correspondent email address.

One would imagine, after over 30 years serving the Bar, Gillian will have made significant sums, along with her brother Lord Etherton.

The Tekanda Foundation was set up in Sri Lanka in 2023 offering a range of educational, recreational and vocational courses to over 400 students from rural communities in the south of the country.

The Sri Lankan Foundation was set up by Richard and Charlie \(presumably Charlotte\) Pembroke. It is likely that this new grant maker has been established to raise funds for the Sri Lankan Foundation.

Ian Hargrove had 65 previous directorships, and just one current directorship. He is now 68 years old, so has presumably retired. His one active directorship is in SMO Secretarial Services Ltd, which has net assets of £3.2m. The company is owned by the Hargrove family. The majority of his other directorships appear to be in dormant companies, most of which had various amounts in assets. For example, Comtesse Investments Ltd held £548k in its last year of operation. Comtesse AF Ltd had shareholder funds of £7.1m. Clearly, Mr Hargrove has done very well in business.

At this stage it is unclear whether this new grant maker will support any other organisations, or simply act as a fundraising body for the Tekanda Foundation in Sri Lanka.

Zovu Sustainable Development Foundation was incorporated as a company in August 2022. According to their latest accounts to August 2025, this new grant maker focused on sustainable development through two projects. The first was in partnership with the UN Development Programme ($100,000 over two years), the second with the UK Foreign Commonwealth & Development Office. Both appear to be focused on core activities; website, mailing lists, and events. In addition, 10 partners received financial support, across Africa, Asia and South America.

The trustees are experts on civil society and policy, with a wide range of experience and interests. Sylvia Beales is an expert in global ageing and social protection, with wide experience in the third sector and the machinations of the UN. Kostas Iatridis is a senior lecturer at Bath specialising in corporate responsibility and sustainable development. Oli Henman, secretary to the company, but not listed as a trustee of the CC website is the Global Coordinator for Action for Sustainable Development.

None of the Trustees have any markers of significant wealth, as one might expect from a lifetime in the third sector. It appears that their funding is derived from the UN and FCO, so it could be said that this new grant maker is working and funding the same organisations that it receives support from. If you have partner organisations involved in sustainable development, it may be worth putting them in touch with this new grant maker.

Marc Hayton is the CEO of the family business known as Foxhills, a resort and spa close to London. He has five directorships, all active, with Alexander Fraser Holdings Ltd having a turnover of £24.7m, profit of £3.5m and retained earnings of £34.6m. Windsor Holdings (Foxhills golf and country club) had a similar turnover of £21m, profit of £509k and retained earnings of £1.5m. The other directorships are either dormant or have negligible assets. The companies are owned outright by the Hayton family.

Their website states: We are committed to giving back to the Surrey community through various charitable initiatives, donations and fundraising. Started in 2019, our Foxhills Community Camps provide free holiday camps for disadvantaged youngsters across the county. Since then, the support has helped hundreds of local children from Surrey to enjoy a free holiday camp at various venues across the county, during the summer holidays and October half-term.

Organised by Runnymede Borough Council and funded with more than £200k by the Hayton Charitable Trust, the programme was created to help parents and carers who may not otherwise be able to find affordable childcare during the summer break. Children aged six to fourteen are selected through referrals from agencies such as Action for Carers and the Family Support Programme; all qualify for free school meals.

They also have a golf programme, where they state that a third of participants now earn their living through golf.

As such, it is unclear if this new grant maker will be wholly operational, rather than grant making, but if you operate in the Surrey area it may be worth getting in touch.

Trustees	Kamran Mohammed Ellahi (Chair) Mansoor Ellahi Saghir Munir

Kamran Ellahi is a solicitor and partner of Baker & Coleman in the Manchester area. The company specialises in providing reliable and trusted legal aid for industrial and military claims. The company appears to be ultimately owned by the three trustees, through International Tissue Holdings Ltd, which shows a turnover of almost £20m, profit of £1.4m and equity of £7.5m.

Mansoor Ellahi appears to be the wife of Kamran and is also a solicitor and partner practicing at Baker & Coleman, whilst Saghir Munir is also a partner at Baker and Coleman.

All three trustees share many of the same directorships, at first one might think in a professional capacity, but most have directorships of one or all of these three trustees, indicating personal interest, rather than professional. For example, James Street Property Holdings Ltd has investment property of £801k, and total equity of £750k, it is owned outright by Kamran, whilst Richmond Property Holdings Ltd is owned by Kamran and Saghir, and has net assets of £551k. SKM Property Holdings is owned by all three trustees and has fixed assets of £1.4m.

At this stage it is unclear whether this new grant maker will look to support charities directly, or through chosen charity partners operating at a grass roots level. If you operate within the area of relief in the target countries it would be worth getting in touch.

The international congregation was founded in 1775 in Cork, Ireland, by Venerable Nano Nagle to educate the poor and advocate for the vulnerable. Dedicated to education and charitable relief, the unit operates across England and Wales, with extensive international mission work in Ireland, Zambia, and Zimbabwe. As of 31 March 2025, the English Unit comprised 51 sisters with an average age of 83.

Several of the Trustees are also trustees of the charity Trust Property Held ICW The English Province of the Congregation of the Sisters of the Presentation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, established in 1987. That charity shows income of £3.8m, expenditure of £3.96m and total funds of £21.5m. They awarded grants of £134k, demonstration that this organisation is 96.7% operational. Of the four grants, over £130k was distributed within the congregation. Notre Dame de Sion and Church Action on Poverty both received grants, of a combined total of just under £5,000.

Peter Harrison is a British businessman who in 2006 went into business with Richard Mille, a luxury watch maker. According to the Sunday Times Rich List for 2026, Peter Harrison and his daughter Tilly are now worth £350m.

Redgrave Luxury Ltd, owned outright by the Harrison family, has accounts to December 2024 showing a turnover of £21.6m, a profit of £66m (additional income from participating interests), and total equity of £281m.

In the same year, Richard Mille EMEA Ltd generated sales of £404.4 million and an operating profit of £141 million. It paid dividends to equity shareholders of £142 million in 2024, down from a payout of £232 million the year before. Richard Harrison owns 50% of that company.

A father-and-daughter double act, the Harrisons sell Swiss watches to a wealthy clientele. Italy-based Peter deals in timepieces made by the luxury brand Richard Mille that sell for as much as £3 million each. Dubai-based Tilly, 33, concentrates on “pre-loved” watches and jewellery from her Mayfair boutique, Ninety. The Harrisons’ main company has averaged profits of more than £70 million over the past three years and should easily be worth £350 million. The pair are passionate sailors and own the 1,500-acre Rowbrough Estate on the Isle of Wight.

LHC was established by London Boroughs in 1966 and now has offices and field based staff throughout England, Wales and Scotland. More than 700 public organisations have used their frameworks.

According to their website: Partners in each region have the opportunity to create and distribute a Community Benefit Fund. The fund is generated from the rebate partners receive if they spend over a specified threshold on LHC frameworks. An additional community benefit fund is available to LHC Board partner organisations. We work with partners in each of our five regions to find a local charity partner who can help them distribute grants to worthwhile projects and causes. Projects and causes must meet specific criteria determined by partners, to ensure the Community Benefit Fund is used to support local needs and objectives.

As an example, over the past year across London and the South East over £65,000 has been invested in community projects, targeting broad areas of need, from skills training for older men to equipment for people with dementia, and community gardens to young people's facilities in deprived areas.

Further details on how the Community Fund operates can be found on the following link:

https://www.lhcpurchase.org.uk/media/ninlgwz1/lhpcg-client-guide-to-cbf-allocations_v1.pdf

If your organisation is focused on community initiatives across any of their five regions it would be worth getting in touch.

Dr Shorful Islam describes himself on LinkedIn thus: Over the past 25 years, I've had the privilege of working at the intersection of data, organisational behaviour, and commercial leadership. I've led global teams of 500+ at Wunderman (WPP), built and scaled two international data consultancies from the ground up, and helped organisations like Shell, Coca-Cola, Microsoft, Unilever, and the NHS turn data into something that actually changes how they operate, not just how they report.

Shorful has four previous and five active directorships. Alas, none of his bravado above appears to have translated into financial success, as none of his companies (past or present) have any indication of wealth. The only wealth marker comes from Be Data Solutions Ltd, which has net liabilities of £346k. The accounts do show that Shorful is owed £110k, suggesting that at one point he did have some money to invest, presumably from his time as an employee of WPP.

Shorful is also a Trustee of the National Zakat Foundation, which redistributes income from individual donations and is dedicated to aiding individual Muslims and fostering a thriving, unified community. Last year the charity had an income of over £10m, expenditure of almost £9m and funds of £4.2m.

Looking at the charitable objects, it is likely that this will be an operation charity, in the sense that it will distribute funds to local grass roots organisations in Bangladesh.

The company has £2.7m in assets and is owned outright by Julian, although Graham Challifour is also a director. The company's registered address is House of Windblown Clouds, the same as this new grant maker. The property was purchased in 2014 for £750k. Today it is valued at £759k, not much in the way of growth for 12 years. It is most likely a residential address, so do bear this in mind when applying. Unfortunately, the website was not live at the time of research. Additional information may become available, but at this stage it is likely that this new grant maker will look to support conservation, particularly flowers, and research into Dr Edward Bach, founder of the 12 Flower Remedies.

Alexander Hoffman

Amanda Hoffman

Tom Hoffman is now 81 and has no current directorships. He has two accounts on Companies House, and 12 former directorships. Tom had a career in banking before retiring in 2003. He was elected to the Court of Common Council in 2002. He is a governor of the Museum of London, the Barbican Centre, and the City of London School for Girls (and former chairman). He was a governor of King's College Hospital and, since 2012, has been a governor of Guy's & St. Thomas Hospital. He was a member of the Council of the University of Exeter, governor of Birkbeck College, of which he is an Honorary Fellow, chairman of the Guildhall School of Music & Drama, chairman of the board of the London Festival Orchestra, and almoner and governor of Christ's Hospital.

Tom is the epitome of the Great and Good. Unfortunately, like most bankers, Tom does not have prominent wealth markers and his directorships are almost exclusively related to his philanthropic endeavours. His various positions (Head of Corporate Banking for ABN, General Manager for Banco Espirito Santo, and senior advisor to several Portuguese banks, etc.) suggest a highly lucrative career.

The address appears to be residential and is worth around £1.2m.

David Lloyd Leisure Ltd is a premium health and wellness group, with 149 clubs across Europe and over 800,000 members. The company had a turnover of £716m to December 2024, with a profit of £47.5m and net assets of £468m. The Trustees hold various positions within the David Lloyd group, and as such it would be wise to view this new grant maker as a corporate foundation. No doubt they will look to support projects that have a tangential benefit to their organisation, through promoting their good deeds at a local community level. It is not clear whether they will be a traditional grant maker or more of an operational charity.
